

ABSTRACT

An adjuster device for a mouthpiece includes a first stop portion connected to a first bite body and an actuator connected to the first stop portion to move the first bite body along a restricted path of travel relative to a second bite body, which has a second stop portion complementary to the first stop portion. An anti-snoring apparatus and kit including the adjuster device is provided.